

Reply by the WEU Council to Assembly Recommendation 97 on the state of European security, disarmament and the nuclear force (London, 6 May 1964)

Caption: On 6 May 1964, the Secretary-General of Western European Union (WEU) circulates the WEU Council’s reply to Assembly Recommendation 97 on the state of European security, disarmament and the nuclear force. The Council shares the Assembly’s views on the importance for the security of Western Europe of general disarmament under effective international inspection and control. Moreover, since the question of disarmament and arms control in the North Atlantic Treaty Organisation (NATO) has the continuous attention of the North Atlantic Council, the Recommendation has been forwarded to it.

Reply to Recommendation 97

The Council share the views expressed in Recommendation 97 concerning the importance for the security of Western Europe of the achievement of general and comprehensive disarmament under effective international inspection and control.

The question of disarmament and of controlling the use of nuclear weapons in NATO are subjects which have the continuous attention of the North Atlantic Council and the Recommendation has therefore been transmitted both to the seven member Governments of W.E.U. and to NATO.
